Explanatory Notes

This form is to be used for persons making an application for a shot-firing permit under the provision of the Explosives Act 2012 and the Explosives Regulations 2012

A person must not do shot-firing of any category (prime or fire explosives) in Tasmania unless:

- the person holds a shot-firing permit that is endorsed for that category of shot-firing or
- the person holds an interstate shot-firing authority with a valid recognition for that category of shot-firing
- the person is undergoing training in that category of shot-firing in an accredited shot-firer course, where approval to attend the course has been granted and the shot-firing is required by the course

The Explosives Regulations 2012 provide for eight categories of shot-firing:

- category 1: underground shot-firing (tunnelling, underground or undersea mining)
- category 2: surface shot-firing (above-ground quarrying, road construction and opencut mining)
- category 3: structural shot-firing (building construction, building demolition and civil engineering work, but with no underground component beyond open excavations of the kind typically required or such things as building foundations, dam or canal construction or highway sidings or underpasses)
- category 4: pyrotechnical shot-firing (firing fireworks in displays)
- category 5: special events shot-firing (firing cannon or like ordnance at tourism venues or historical re-enactments or musical or theatrical performances)
- category 6: agrarian shot-firing (shot-firing involved in land clearing or other agricultural or forestry operations)
- category 7: exploratory shot-firing (geological exploration or seismological, paleontological or other scientific research or experimentation)
- category 8: special operations (shot-firing not covered by any other category of shot-firing)

A shot-firing permit is valid for a period of 3 years unless cancelled or revoked (or has been issued for a shorter period).

For renewal of a shot-firing permit an application is to be lodged no later than one month (but not sooner than 3 months) before the permit is due to expire.

Important note to applicants

A Shot-firing permit alone no longer provides the authority to purchase or handle explosives. This is only possible by also holding an SSDS permit or being a 'Responsible Worker' under an SSDS permit.

Applications can be submitted in person at any Service Tasmania outlet.

Tasmanian shot-firer permit holders currently residing or working interstate should contact the Dangerous Substances Unit for advice on the application process. if you require assistance completing this form contact WorkSafe Tasmania
